

BLUES LOST BY RAGGED PLAYING

Browns Take Last Game of Series by Score of 12 to 7.

STARR PITCHED STEADY BALL

Albuquerque had things all its own way in the last game of the series with the Las Vegas Blues at Traction Park yesterday afternoon, defeating the visitors by a score of 12 to 7. At no stage of the game did Las Vegas stand any chance to win. The game was featureless, except for the fine pitching of Starr, who struck out fourteen batters, and the fast work of Kunz at second. There was only one inning when the home team played poorly. This was in the fourth, when several safe hits were made off Starr, scoring four runs for the visitors.

Matney, who was on the slab for the Blues, struck out eight men. He was hit very freely, but this would not have been so disastrous for Las Vegas had the team played together and given its pitcher half decent support.

The first inning started out like it was to be an easy thing for the Browns. After Las Vegas had retired the first two men to the bat, Pettus made a safe hit. This was followed by several costly errors, and by the time the Blues had steadied down and made the third out, Albuquerque had scored four runs. The Blues were retired this inning, one, two, three.

Numerous errors in the second inning gave the Browns three more runs. Las Vegas was again retired Never making a nice slide to second, without a score, and the fans were shaking the grand stand with their rooting, believing that the home team was going to wallop the visitors in fine shape.

There was nothing doing for either team in the third inning, but in the fourth, which was the only interesting inning of the game, the Browns were retired without a run. When Las Vegas came to the bat in this inning, they didn't do a thing to Starr. They hit the ball all over the field, and made four runs before being retired. This made things more interesting, and it looked as though the Blues had taken a brace and intended to go after the game. It all proved a false alarm, however, as Las Vegas only scored two runs in the fifth and one in the sixth, while Albuquerque made three runs in the fifth and two in the eighth, making the score 12 to 7, which was the result of the game.

There was no wrangling, and Umpire Combs gave entire satisfaction. The largest crowd of the season was in attendance.

MARKET LETTER

Special Correspondence.
Kansas City, July 3.—Cattle receipts last week were more than 36,000 head, an increase of 5,000 over the previous week and the heaviest of the season. The market was good all week, closing 15 to 25 cents higher on all killing cattle, but stockers and feeders were slow and 10 to 20 cents lower. Urgent farm work kept country buyers at home last week, and the stocker and feeder trade does not reflect the true strength of that class of cattle. In a week or so, when harvesting is over and corn laid by, demand for stockers and feeders will be brisk, especially if the present favorable prospects for corn are not interrupted. Packers bought the cattle better last week because the class of stuff received more nearly suited their wants than what came in the previous week, that is last week most of the stuff was light weight cattle, and medium priced. There seems to be a good outlet for medium class beef and prospects look promising. Supply today is light at 5,000 head, market on killing grades 10 to 20 cents higher, stockers and feeders steady. The River Leonard cattle, from Fowler, Colorado, sold on different days last week at $4.25 and $4.50, 1100 pounds, and some 850-pound fed steers, from Rocky Ford, at $4.25. Panhandle stockers and feeders sold at $3.30 to $3.80, bulls $2.50 to $2.80, veals $4.85 to $5.25, some grass killing steers from El Paso, 984 pounds, at $3.75, about in line with Quarantine cattle of the same weight. Grass cows bring $2.50 to $3.00.
The mutton market is all that could be desired. Prices advanced 25 to 40 cents last week covering all kinds of sheep and lambs, and the market is up 10 cents again today. Receipts are moderate, mostly Arizonas. Twelve doubles of Arizona wethers sold straight today at $5.25, 93 pounds, which is 15 cents higher than previous best price this season, last Friday, and about 50 cents above a week ago. Spring lambs sold at $6.50 to $7.25, straight Texas ewes last week at $4.35, Nevada wethers, 107 pounds, at $4.70, early in the week. Buyers are keen competitors at all times, and the market is in excellent condition. Commission firms here have orders in hand for this grade of the country, but practically nothing of this sort has been here as yet.
